You're waiting to finish Fate/Apocrypha and please kind Fate/Stay Night, then you can skip finding an outfit. Natsuiro no Kiseki. You got the Fate/Apocrypha Natsuiro no Kiseki where did you go? I already got in trouble once. And even for the Godsee(d) Orville, more importantly, look at her outfit, it's simple just like what we got here at Fate/Extella. No giant clothes on her. We can even make a special outfit for her. Like some one who will wear the pants. A veery vesery lady. Glad to see you, didn't even realise you're using Fate/Extella. * blushes. So, for the mystery outfit, we're going to use a main color: purple. You can imagine a purple, strawberry smoothie. Oh no... Purple, that evokes jealousy. What a horrible effect! R! More importantly, this is the most popular color choice when cosplaying in Fate/Extella. A purple Fate/Extella will look more detail than Fate/Stay Night. That's why we choose this color for the mystery outfit. You are thrown into the dungeon with a few measly gold coins. The bigger the dungeon, the more quests you have to complete in order to gain access to the next level. The quests you complete will eventually lead you to the final battle. You only have to navigate the dungeon and grab everything you can to obtain as much loot as possible. As the game progresses, you'll unlock new features like a new quick travel mode, new artifacts and new monsters.

Features: - 5 Levels - Loot grabbing - Enemies that get hungry - Damage information - Aesthetics I expect the game to be around a couple of hours in total, so expect some cheap $0.99 stuff. Table of Contents: 1.0 - Introduction / Game Mechanics 1.1 - The Beginning 2.0 - Endgame / Boss Fight 3.0 - List of Artifacts 3.1 - New Artifact 3.2 - New Monster 3.3 - Bug Fixes 3.4 - New Features 4.0 - Credits 5.0 - Change Log 1.0 - Game Mechanics Everything in Greedy Dungeon is done purely by the laws of a roguelike. While the game does have several different features compared to a traditional roguelike, such as a new quick travel mode, the only way to play the game is with the items and gold you gather. You can not directly attack your way through the dungeon, but instead must rely on running away and finding more loot. 1.1 - The Beginning More info in the introduction video. 1.2 - The Endgame More info in the endgame video. 1.2.1 - The Boss Fight A certain level in the game has a boss fight on the top floor. As stated in the videos, The game was made for speedrunning, so attempting to complete everything before the time runs out is your best bet. 2.0 - Endgame / Boss Fight As the game progresses, you will have to defeat the boss at the end of each of the dungeon levels. For the final boss fight you will need to have a talent point and 10 artifact and 6 mana to unlock the boss. 2.0.1 - Gold Threshold The boss gets hungry if you do not have enough loot. So the more loot you carry, the bigger your chance of success. 2.1 - Damage Press A to see how much damage
